

HUGO BOSS

HUGO BOSS is globally renowned as a successful fashion and lifestyle brand. On the one hand, we have our passion for extraordinary design and high expectations regarding fabrics, processing and fit to thank. On the other hand, we like to encourage our team of almost 12,500 employees to think outside the box. After all, different perspectives enhance creativity and performance and result in products that are sold in 127 countries at over 7,000 sales points around the globe.

We are searching within the Shirt & Neckwear Business Unit in Coldrerio/Switzerland for a six months internship since September 1th 2017:

Interns Operations Technical Development

The successful candidate will mostly be handling the following tasks:

- Support the team in follow up and check prototypes, sales man sampling and vendors' productions;
- Support the quality check activities referring to HUGO BOSS Quality Guidelines and Technical documents;
- Creation and management of quality reports;
- Support the team in communication with the internal departments and the vendors.
- Develop a knowledge in cutting, sewing and finishing of the products.

If you:

- Have a Technical school background;
- Have good English knowledge, Italian and/or German would be a plus;
- Have a good knowledge of MS-Office, PowerPoint, Illustrator, Indesign; Prezi will be a plus;
- Have high team attitude, good organizational, analytical and communication skills;
- Are dynamic, flexible and multitasking;

Then you are the person we are looking for, please apply directly online:
www.group.hugoboss.com